

Farm Organizations & Groups

Taking out membership in farm organizations or joining a group is an excellent way to build relationships with other farmers, learn skills, share ideas, and keep abreast of new developments in farming.

The Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food keeps a comprehensive list of organizations for the province, found here [1].

But you can also use the menu below to find contact information for organizations and groups that specifically work in our region.

Please let us know if we have left anyone out!
